Summer was busy, busy for PHS students. Academically, summer started with Girls' State and Boys' State. Seven seniors were honored with a trip to Indiana University to study our state government. Summer school, jobs, camp counseling, 4-H, band rehearsals, chamber choir rehearsals, cheerleader practice, and various sports kept many students bustling.

Of course, the summer wasn't all work and no play. Swimming in the old St. Joe, skiing, softball, baseball, dances, and vacations dominated the "lighter" side of life.

"Watch out for the wildman!" These cries were familiar to fair-goers passing the Bittersweet booth. For the first time in our school's history, Penn's publications department operated a booth at the 4-H fair. The Bittersweet House of Mystery was created by seniors Dan Gardner and Steve Kelley. The "wildman" who was billed as coming from deepest, darkest Africa strangely resembled Steve Kelley. On the other side of the wildman's cage was a vast gallery of puns. Excited viewers peered through the peep hole labeled Elizabeth Taylor only to find a lizard tayloring a suit. Red Buttons was also at our booth but in the person of three red buttons. The above mentioned were just a few of the "celebrities" that appeared at the Bittersweet House of Mystery. The purpose of the House of Mystery was to raise money and sell subscriptions to the Bittersweet.

With the space age booming ahead, many students find that science and math can lead to a profitable and fascinating vocation. Many new and challenging problems confront us begging to be solved. We are faced with the task of learning how to use many new and complicated mechanisms. The paper and pencil method of working a math problem has given way to the computer. The sciences have also changed a great deal. The chemist in working with more and new elements, the biologist has to concern himself with sustaining the lives of many more people, and the physicist must now concern himself with outer space.

Math and science majors find Penn's science department superb and undoubtedly receive a strong background for college. The sciences taught at Penn include biology, chemistry, advanced chemistry, physics. Every year the science department sponsors the annual Science Fair. This gives students the opportunity to explore and experiment by using their own creativity. The benefits received from this experimentation prove invaluable in helping a student to think and reason on his own.

The skits were written by the students themselves and proved to be very original and interesting. Their main purpose, however, was to increase school spirit and give more support to the team. The students should be commended for their efforts in backing out athletic teams.

Traditionally seniors have been noted for their leadership. Each year seniors buy their senior cords and decorate them to their own tastes according to what they have done in the past four years. Cords are to be worn to school on black and white days as a sign of "school spirit."

Mr. Robert Ward, varsity football head coach and social studies teacher, explains an important geographical location to three of his interested students.

The Social Studies Department was characterized for the second straight year by the team teaching instructional approach. This approach has proved more efficient than the regular teaching approach. The history department devised an "honors class" for juniors who were considered capable of doing excellent academic work. There was also the regular team teaching performed in the other history classes. The senior students were required to take government and economics. This course included a "problem solving approach" during the second semester. A social studies course is offered to every grade level at Penn. The teachers in the department include: Miss Slaby, Mr. Bolen, Mr. Cierzniak, Mr. Phillips, Mr. Hurst, Mr. Quimby, Mr. Slater, Mr. Ward and Mr. Schmucker.

Team captain Gary McCammon, teaming up with fellow seniors Wally Stiebritz Tom Rentschler and Ray Golata, were the mainstays of the team during the season. Acting as the team's "fifth" man was junior Craig Fanning, who led the squad in number of matches won. Ron Whitney and Dennis Myers two other underclassmen on the team this past season, should perform capably again this fall. Fanning was chosen to captain this year's team.

A behind the scenes "candid camera" shot of a typical second hour band rehearsal

"Strike up the band." From August and Riverview until June and Commencement melodic strains from the "Marching Kingsmen" (Concert Band) were heard. Under the direction of Mr. Donald Kutchback, the members of the band again distinguished themselves.

The band's imaginative schedule included half-time shows at Penn's football games and the ever-present pep band during the cage season. Football fans cheered band performances featuring music from Mary Poppins and James Bond themes. The Pennettes, with umbrella accessories, contributed to the effectiveness of the Mary Poppins' numbers, while strains of Gold Finger and Jamaica Jump-Up were immediately identified by football fans as music from the popular James Bond series.

October will be remembered by band members for their trip to Ball State for "Band Day." November and December were busy months for practice, practice, and more practice. Seniors who played for four years in the band were given sweater awards following the Winter

Donald Kutchback, Penn band director, is interviewed by senior band member Sarajane Smith concerning the "500" Festival Parade. Penn participated in the Indianapolis parade for the first time this year.

Concert in January

April was another busy month. On April 13, the band featured the Great Race March during an all-student convo. On the 16, they participated in the state contest and on the 24 they entertained the public with the annual Spring Concert playing music from The Apartment theme.

Perhaps the highlight of the year was the participation of the "Marching Kingsmen" in the Indianapolis "500" Festival Parade. This was another Penn first. Only 33 bands are included in the "500". Eleven from Marian County, eleven from the rest of the state of Indiana, and eleven from out of state. The "500" Festival Parade this year had additional interest and significance because this year Indiana celebrated its sesquicentennial birthday.

The 1965-1966 edition of the Penn varsity basketball team, despite posting the losingest record in the school's eight year history at 2—19, nonetheless provided the many ardent Kingsmen fans with some outstanding thrills during the long, uphill schedule. With a starting lineup composed of one senior and four underclassmen, and with an entire varsity squad that boasted only four seniors on the roster, those two victories rank as somewhat of an achievement.

However, it was not the two victories, but probably a loss that ranked as the most outstanding game of the season. Saddled with a 2—18 regular season, the Kingsmen came into the Elkhart sectional as a definite underdog. Facing tough Elkhart, a team we had lost to by 31 points during the regular season, it would have taken an almost superhuman effort to repeat as titlist.

The boys almost came through. Playing the host Blazers to a standstill during the middle two periods after falling down by five points after the first period, it took a last period rally for Elkhart to defeat our determined Kingsmen, 64—51. Despite losing the contest, coach Bob Brady's Kingsmen played one of the better games of the campaign, clipping 18 points off the Elkhart margin of victory in our first meeting.

Our first victory of the season was perhaps the most thrilling of the two wins. After a rather disappointing 84—46 loss to South Bend Washington in our opener, we began our home campaign by tripping Michigan City St. Mary's 78—73. With Paul Minne and senior Dick Fulmer leading the way with 21 points each, we came back from a 36—33 halftime deficit to win.

However, with our record evened at 1—1, the best it was to be all season long, we then hit a slump, losing our next 11 games in a row. Following a narrow loss to LaVille and that setback at Elkhart, we then fell to arch-rival Mishawaka in a double overtime thriller and lost to tough South Bend Riley by just two points.

Other losses in the string were to Adams and St. Joseph in the Mishawaka Holiday tourney, a 33 point setback at Plymouth, and losses to LaPorte, New Carlisle, Napanee, and Central.

Penn Quintet Wins Just Two in '65-'66

FOLLOW THE LEADER Roy's Box Forward (44) Tim Patiser leads the way as they fight Pennwood for a win in a regular season game.

With our record standing at 1-12, we then won our only other game of the season, rapping Jackson 39-25 behind the 19 point efforts of senior star Don Holmes and junior center Ron Frantz.

Despite playing their best ball of the season in the last seven outings, the team dropped all seven, several in thrillers. A poor Penn second period helped Concord slip past us. Bremen rallied in the third period to trip us by 13 points, and St. Joseph's needed a last ditch rally to nip our spirited Kingsmen by a mere 4 points.

We concluded the regular season with a pair of close setbacks, losing to Niles 74-68 despite Holmes' scoring a school record 44 points, and lost a 2-7 thriller to Clay.

Coach Brady will have back eight of his 12 varsity members for this winter, as he loses just Holmes, Frantz, Ron Armour and Glen Stevenson. Varsity members returning are Frantz, Phil Singleton, Steve Rickenbach, Tim Clark, Mike Gary, Wordinger, Gary Shankan and Roger Weldy.

Penn Invitational 1st Place
South Bend Sectional 6th Place

Bart Powell, the most valuable swimmer during the 1965-1966 season, shows his way to a 100-yard backstroke victory in a tough meet with South Bend Washington.

Both opening and closing their season on a strong note, the '65 PHS swimming team, playing a tough brand of competition, compiled an impressive 8-5 record. The Kingsmen tankers, under second year coach Tom Swen, won three of their first four meets of the season and ended their campaign by copping their last three meets.

Led by co-captains Bart Powell and Mike Mattasits, the PHS mermen won the team title in our Penn Invitational meet and placed fifth in the South Bend Swimming Sectional. Powell, the team's most valuable player and leading scorer with 84.34 points, set a new Invitational record time of 1:04.7 in his specialty, the 100-yard backstroke. Mattasits finished second in scoring points for the past season, garnering 84.14 markers and also nabbed his second letter in the sport. Powell, winner of eight of ten times he has swum the 100-yard backstroke this season, was awarded his third letter, as was senior Jim Rach. Craig Fanning, a junior, picked up his second.

Swimmers who scored 50 or more points during the campaign were, in addition to Powell and Mattasits, Rach, Fanning, diver Paul Holsinger, Bob Andrews, and Leonard Lambert.

The Penn High School wrestling team, led by senior stand-outs Phil Miller and Mike Mroczek, compiled a very respectable record of 6-6 during dual competition this past year. Although not as many boys turned out as expected, the young team responded well according to head coach Don Quimby. Of the record number of 11 boys receiving their varsity letters this season, three compiled excellent records. Senior captain Miller and Sophomore Jeff Primmer had identical records of 15-4 while three year letterman Mroczek has the impressive record of 15-3-1. Sophomores earning their first varsity letters were Mel Shorb, Bill Avery, Dan Stevenson and Roy Barrier. Juniors receiving their first varsity letters were Ron Colborn, Rich Hoffman, Dennis Sager and Jerry Wood.

Highlighting the Penn mat season were wins over arch rivals Mishawaka and South Bend Clay. Penn's surprise victory over the highly rated Clay team was one of the biggest upsets of the entire season. Of the more important events of the 1965-1966 wrestling year, Penn's greatest achievement came in winning the Culver Invitational. Our wrestlers also finished sixth in the very tough South Bend Sectional and second in the Penn Invitational.

Under the able assistance of B-Team coach Harvey Hurst, the reserves compiled the best record ever compiled by a Penn B-Team. Their record for the past mat season was 9-3-2.

James Thurber in "The Male Animal" with David Chastain as Tommy Turner, Terry Harner as Ellen Turner, Gary Wolf as Joe Ferguson, Joy Bogan as Pat, Dennis Myers as Wally, Paul Holsinger as Michael Barnes, Phil Goddard as Ed Keller, and Steve Glass as Dean Damon.

Variety That was the key word in dramatics at Penn High this year. Productions ranged from philosophic comedy to British satire and from modern humor and Americana to great Russian classics.

The deep-rooted feelings of a society torn between two different philosophies are deftly portrayed by James Thurber in "The Male Animal". The dramatics group chose this play for their fall production and, combining the talents of David Chastain as Tommy Turner, Terry Harner as Ellen Turner, Gary Wolf as Joe Ferguson, Joy Bogan as Pat, Dennis Myers as Wally, Paul Holsinger as Michael Barnes, Phil Goddard as Ed Keller, and Steve Glass as Dean Damon, they were extremely successful in getting their message across.

The mid-semester play presented annually by the Thespians was performed before the school assembly once again this year. It was entitled "Box and Cox" and was written in the early 1800's by John Maddison Morton. It was an early English situation comedy and was ably presented by Jim Evans as Mr. Box, Dennis Myers as Mr. Cox, and Carole Kleckner as Mrs. Bouncer. An original introduction to the play was given by Phil Goddard.

In keeping with the "variety" theme the four spring plays were varied to the full extent of the word. The first play, "The Dear Departed", by Stanley Houghton, was a satirical mystery. Carole Kleckner as Mrs. Slater, Connie Weiss as Mrs. Jordan, Terry Jordan as Henry Slater, Kevin Witwer as Ben Jordan, Barbara Wachowiak as Victoria Slater, and Douglas Sellon as Abel Merryweather all helped to make it a success.

Judy Stoeckinger, Chris Romeu, Terry Harner, and Judy Davis were featured in the "Overtones"

The second production of the evening was entitled "The Twelve Pound Look" and was written by Sir James M. Barrie. It had a moralistic theme and the leading actors who helped to bring this theme to the audience were David Chastain as Sir Harry Simms, Patricia Hahn as Lady Simms, and Barbara Myers as Kate.

Third on the program was "Overtones" by Alice Gerstenberg. It depicted the suppressed feelings and thoughts of people in today's world. The actresses who contributed to its success were Judy Davis as Margaret, Terry Harner as Maggie (her primitive self), Judy Stoeckinger as Harriet, and Chris Romeu as Hetty (her primitive self).

Last to be presented was the classic "A Marriage Proposal" by Anton Chekhov. It was a descriptive view of everyday life in Czarist Russia. Starring in the play were Charles Perry as Stepan Stepanovitch Tschubukov, Terry Meacham as Natalia Stepanovna, and Phil Goddard as Ivan Vassilivitch Lomov.

Debate Coach Mrs. Betty Smith assists sophomore debater Terry Shaller with the selection of research materials for the upcoming radio debate tournament.

Phil Goddard and Virgil Wesco are in business as they spend time on their debate team. Phil and Virgil were varsity members.

Phil Goddard and Virgil Wesco won 85% of their debates this year. They won 100% of their debates in the St. Joseph Valley League. Linda Chapman and Terry Shaller won 50% of their debates and were the second best two-man team on the debate squad this year. Other debaters this year were Judy Davis and Dave Cropsey. The Goddard-Wesco team also won the WSBT Radio Debates to put Penn in the finals on television.

Other achievements of members of the team include:

Led by the slugging trio of seniors Don Holmes, Ed Stevenson and Tom Ritter the 1966 Penn. basketball team shook off a midseason slump and won its last five games of the season to end the year in fine fashion. Hampered by lack of practice and games due to rainy weather, the diamondment compiled a 16-4 record against tough competition.

Highlighting the season was the five game victory streak to close the campaign. Included in the victory skein, which began just after the team had dropped four games in a row, were a 2-1 victory over St. Joseph's, Ed Stevenson's home run, a doubleheader sweep against North Liberty, and a 1-0 triumph over tough South Ben, Adams.

Holmes, one of the best athletes ever to compete at Penn. was much of the story during the 1966 campaign. He posted a .387 batting average to take the batting crown, and was the mainstay of the pitching staff. Handling 4 1/2 innings of baseball, Holmes notched five of the team's half dozen victories, fanned 30 batters while walking just 2 and gave up just 11 bases.

Stevenson batted .286 to finish third in the batting race, ending up behind Holmes and Ritter, who hit .300. Stevenson was also named honorary captain for the past season. He was the team's centerfielder for the past three seasons. Ritter, the squad's first baseman, ended the standing season by being named the most valuable player on the team.

The B team, under the direction of Coach Steve Meyer, won four games in a row, including a victory over LaPorte, Adams, Marquette, and a win over North Liberty. Greg Minnegerth, pitcher, was the team's leading pitcher, and Kerry Sauer and Bob Yetter, both .381 respectively, Yetter and Doug Freeman each scored two goals in the season.

After getting off to a torrid start at the opening of the season, the 1966 Penn track team, hobbled by injuries, lost its last six dual meets in a row. However, Coach Frank O'Shea's squad, dominated by underclassmen, made a good showing for the season. Their final record ended at 3—6.

Injuries played a key part in the misfortunes in the latter half of the season. Star senior sprinter Dick Fulmer pulled a leg muscle and missed much of the season. Steve Rockenbaugh, a promising junior, missed much of the season also. Highly touted pole vaulter Fred Kelter also missed nearly all of the season.

However, the youngsters, including many promising freshmen, came through in strong fashion. Six freshman records were set during the season, one sophomore mark, and two school marks.

Fulmer, despite running very little, earned his fourth letter in the track and field sport and received a special trophy for achieving this difficult feat. Junior Roger Weldy, who was named most valuable for the 1966 season and will captain the 1967 squad, earned his second letter. He also set a new school record in the quarter mile. Junior Steve Rockenbaugh, who earned his third letter in track, set a new school record in the half-mile during the regular season.

Resurgence could be the key word to describe the 1966 Penn golf team. Led by sensational senior Bill Johnson, who fired an all-time Penn best average score of 80, the squad compiled a 7—8 record. This mark is the best ever for a Penn squad.

Johnson, the most valuable player and honorary captain for the past season, truly deserved the honors he received, as he proved to be one of the top golfers in the area, if not in the state. Coach Bill Jagg had four other boys who were regular competitors, and all won major letters.

Freshman Dick Ross, who shows potential of becoming an outstanding golfer in the next three years, had the second best average on the squad with an 85. Senior Darrell Gunn followed at 87 and juniors Mike Waggoner and Ron Frantz carded averages of 89 and 92 respectively.

Their Cue!

It's a long, long time from September 'till June and our restless group eagerly shadowed the class of '66 until we were certain that we could wrest the leadership reins from the departing seniors. Like delegates at a convention members of our class represented us in almost every school-sponsored activity. We laughed with Jim Evans, Carole Kleckner, and Dennis Myers in "Box and Cox". We were entertained by kids from our class in the band and chorus. Some won medals, too! Junior boys thrilled us on the gridiron and basketball floor and Roger Weldy drew our cheers as he ran the last lap of the 440. He's fast.

We admit to being selfish in December when our class rings arrived but no one seemed to mind. April 30, the night of the PROM seemed to remind us of the many unselfish after-school hours we spent working to make it an unforgettable occasion. We hope you seniors liked it too!

We were proud to be present at the National Honor Society Induction. Some of us made it just to make sure we wouldn't miss anything we suggested that our class be represented at Boys' and Girls' State and the summer journalism institute.

We are a proud group but there is still much to do and next year we have plans to do it. Remember, all year long we've shadowed the seniors and we're ready to take over.

Boys' Staters Dave Rumpf, Ron Frantz, and Fred Middleton have an informal seminar on the history of student government at Boys' State

Do you remember this portrait? If you attended "The Twelve Pound Look" you might have seen it framed in the extra room wall of that set. Freshman Greer Ratliff, communications photographer, took the picture. The subject is a friend of mine.

The services offered by our guidance department at Penn are so inter-related that in actual practice it would be impossible to separate them. Therefore, it is absolutely necessary that each member of the staff be able to perform effectively in providing any and all of the essential activities. However, for the purpose of administrative efficiency it is necessary that various guidance staff members be assigned specific functions for which they are primarily responsible.

Penn High Guidance Department Responsibilities

Constance Standish ..	Guidance Coordinator
Robert Cook ..	Research and Testing
Lynn Carlson ..	Primary Testing
Berta Velonis ..	College Scholarship Applications
Robert Gilbert ..	Vocational and Occupational Services

The Department old timers, Constance Standish and Robert Cook, prove that a busy day in the department can still end in smiles.

Guidance Counselor Robert Gilbert gives senior Sue Holverson some expert advice regarding a prospective summer job. Job placement is one of the many facets of the guidance program.

Guidance Counselors Robert Gilbert, Lynn Carlson, and Constance Standish, along with Bertha Anderson, the department's long-time secretary, are shown here. Student interviews have been a regular feature for the past three years.

Mr. Jones chats with PIA officers Mrs. Hetter and Mrs. Weiss after the first PIA meeting.

W N D T reporter Franka Noll interviews Mr. Jones during the holding of the Penn. Assembly.

Penn High School principal Robert W. Jones

Penn High School . . . a Place of Academic Encounter

The Joneses (Mrs. Jones, Robert Jones, Mr. Jones of Kirk) and Mrs. Jones.

First and foremost, high school is an academic institution with a primary mission to stretch the intellect and shape the mind.

It is a place of questing, for seeking after knowledge, for exercising the individual's thought processes.

In a civilization characterized by change, students must find mental and emotional stability in flexible curriculums. What high school means to a majority of our students may be nebulous but that academic excellence should be the ideal cannot be refuted.

To paraphrase Forrest Kirkpatrick:

A high school is a singing stride

Toward the portals of maturity

Away from the deep-seated as a pine,

A cluster of ideals, courage and hope

A fear of commitment

A looking forward and looking back

With an audience of Mr. Lowell Sune and Mr. Owen Shoup, Dennis Prout a sophomore explains the rudiments of his science project. His project was to determine a relationship of the PH factor to the production of synthetic amino acids in primitive earth's atmospheric conditions.

Dennis won the grand championship in the senior division at the P.H.M. Science Fair. In the Regional Fair he was awarded a first place in chemistry and an alternate position to the International Science Fair at Dallas, Texas.

WILLIAMS POOL COMPANY

We would be happy to meet with you and your family at your convenience, with no obligation to you, to discuss how a swimming pool would fit in your family's backyard living. Contrary to most beliefs, a properly engineered and constructed average swimming pool built by the WILLIAMS POOL COMPANY costs less than 25¢ a day to maintain. This average cost includes your taxes, chemicals and filtration.

Country Club Living can be yours for as little as $1895.00 for a completely installed swimming pool built by the WILLIAMS POOL COMPANY.

If we could be of any service, or if you would want to talk over your family's possibilities of owning a swimming pool, drop a card to the WILLIAMS POOL COMPANY, 59880 So. Ironwood Road, South Bend 46614, or call 291-3440 and we will gladly make an appointment to meet you.

BONUS: 1966 KINGSMAN SPECIAL

Any family presenting this year book when buying a WILLIAMS Swimming Pool will be given $100.00 worth of pool supplies or the pool will be discounted the same;

OR

Any student arranging an appointment for the WILLIAMS POOL COMPANY which leads to the installation of a pool will receive a bonus check for $50.00.

Entrepreneurs Are PHS Boosters

An encyclopedia might define free enterprise as an economic system in which the individual owns and controls the means of production. But a student who wants to go beyond just the theory and explore free enterprise in action will find a prime example within the framework of his own community.

He will find there the businesses which comprise the nucleus of our community, and within these businesses the people who are striving to meet their customers' most basic needs, their smallest whims. Our businessmen are constantly aware of new products and ideas and recognize the advantages of altering their services to conform with these changes.

Thus we at Penn are privileged to be able to salute these men, our community merchants, who provide the ever-evolving role of service, leadership, and friendship to our community. So to those who again aided us through their advertisements and encouragements, we offer our sincere thanks for helping to make this annual possible.
